Boris Dev's AI Product Engineer Cover Letter

Below is a short list of rationales on why I believe you should consider me for the AI Product Engineer role.

I build developer-first products, for example:

- APIs by collaborating with front-end developer customers
- Automated performance testing tools for backend developers
- Several observability dashboards for monitoring and debugging
- I did the training and ops support for data scientists to move to pyspark
  and deploy to microservices

I love working in cross-functional teams, for example:

- I am an engineer who got a PhD in Human Geography, and loves working with data scientists so I can see the big picture.